Dan and Jim were Miss-es Ca-sey's sons, They were brave as two boys could be. When the trou-ble start-ed with the Huns, They fought for De-moc-ra-cy. But now the war is o-ver, they came home the oth-er day, I just met Miss-es Ca-sey, this is what she had to say:

Vamp

Ev-'ry night you'll find them both out there, In a tent in the old back yard. Their old man's so proud, why, I de-clare, While they sleep sure he stands on guard. Why ev-'ry morn' at break-fast time you ought to hear their sass, In-stead of bowls of tea, they must have bowls of dem-i-tasse:
